

From humble beginnings at a Philadelphia storefront in 1891, ACME Markets has stood the test of time with a focus on quality, fair prices and friendly service.

The company founded by Samuel Robinson and Robert Crawford carried the name that bore the friends' business philosophy: The House that Quality Built. Robinson and Crawford merged their store with four Philadelphia grocers in 1917 to become the American Stores Company. In the 1930s, most of the grocer's storefronts became ACME Markets.

Today, ACME Markets operates 125 supermarkets in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

ACME Markets is the leading food and drug retailer in the Philadelphia market, where it competes with local chains and supercenters. In addition to its bricks-and-mortar stores, ACME offers online grocery shopping in Philadelphia and the surrounding area.

Through valuing and respecting the hard work of all 16,000 ACME Associates, being a dedicated corporate citizen, and providing our customers with the best in product and customer service, ACME Markets prides itself on being The Best Place to Work, The Best Place to Shop, and The Best Place to Invest.
